CONTRACTORS BOARD CAUTIONS CONTRACTORS HEADING TO EAST COAST TO ASSIST WITH RECOVERY EFFORTS

As contractors begin to answer the calls for help and assistance on the East Coast in response to Hurricane Sandy, the Nevada State Contractors Board (NSCB) wants to caution Nevada contractors to ensure they possess the appropriate licenses required in the jurisdictions they are traveling to before making the journey east.

“Do not assume your Nevada contractor’s license is sufficient for work on the East Coast,” NSCB Executive Officer Margi Grein said. “Other states, counties and cities may have their own licensing requirements, and it’s the contractors’ duty to ensure compliance in the jurisdiction in which they are working.”

Each state’s or county/local jurisdiction’s licensure requirements vary. The National Association of State Contractors Licensing Agencies website posts information on each state’s requirements.
